He told the seniors: "While the diploma which will be presented to you to recognize your achievements is a tangible and external symbol of your success, I am confident that because it is given to you by Gettysburg College, this diploma represents only an outward manifestation of what must be an inner spiritual grace, of ultimate ends, of integrity and of confidence which comes from accomplishment."

Forgotten Franks Call Out Firemen

Gettysburg firemen were called about 1 a.m. Sunday to the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house on W. Lincoln Ave. but found only a smoke-filled kitchen.

Investigation showed some students had put frankfurters in an oven to heat where they had been forgotten. Another student found the kitchen filled with smoke and went in search of the responsible students while another student called the firemen.

After returning to the engine house about 2 o'clock Sunday morning from the "frankfurter fire," the firemen went back to the campus again at 7:45 o'clock Sunday morning with an ambulance and fire engine to stand by for the helicopter landing of General Lyman L. Kennedy Tells Macmillan About Khrushchev Talks; Queen's Dinner Tonight

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—President Kennedy today told British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of the Vienna, Austria, summit talks. He arranged to give the American people a radio-television report Tuesday night.

The President's talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev at Vienna, ending Sunday night, brought an agreement to maintain East-West contacts but limited results otherwise.

And today, Communist delegates to the Geneva conference on Laos continued to brush aside talks about cease-fire violations despite the announcement that Kennedy and Khrushchev recognized the importance of an effective truce in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

WILL DEFEND BERLIN

Khrushchev rushed home to welcome President Sukarno of Indonesia, a neutralist Asian leader whose government has contracted for more than $300 million worth of Soviet military aid.

Kennedy is reported to have told Khrushchev emphatically that if he forces a showdown over West Berlin, the Western powers will defend the city. Khrushchev was warned against miscalculating Western intentions.

Broadly, the U. S. President sought to get across the idea that, despite setbacks in Laos and Cuba, the United States intends to

MAP ALLIED STRATEGY

Today in London, President Kennedy and Macmillan spent nearly three hours mapping Western strategy in the East-West cold war. They dispensed with all advisers and officials for most of their session.

It took place in an austere study in Admiralty House. Outside, American and British security men and London policemen kept a watch on a crowd which at one time numbered nearly 5,000.

The nub of the President's report to Macmillan, diplomats said, amounted to this: "The Vienna exchanges produced better understanding of the rival positions—but no firm agreements beyond a decision to keep on talking."

DINES WITH QUEEN

The President, whose father was a target of bitter criticism as ambassador to Britain at the outset of World War II, had luncheon with Macmillan.

Tonight he is receiving the highest hospitality the nation can offer, dinner with Queen Elizabeth II at Buckingham Palace.

Saw Smoke Of Bon Fire 8 Miles Away

Calls from Mummaburg and Fairfield led Fire Chief Francis I. Linn and Fire Marshal Donald Jacobs at 9:55 o'clock this morning to investigate a bonfire on a vacant lot on E. Water St., near the former Gettysburg furniture factory.

Linn and Jacobs ordered the fire, which they said was "huge," extinguished. "Residents of the two towns had seen the smoke and called the engine house to ask what was burning," the firemen said.

The salesgirl is a lady who ... must greet a lot of folks ... and listen to their troubles ... as well as to their jokes ... she has to be a diplomat ... and know just how to please ... for human nature must be handled ... with finesse and ease ... she's on her feet most of the time ... and has to be alert ... giving service with a smile ... though it may often hurt ... and when a bargain sale is on ... she really has to step ... and so among her attributes ... is one that's known as pep ... success or failure hinges on ... amounts that she can sell ... but most important is the knack ... to sell herself as well.

SAW MILLION JEWS KILLED

JERUSALEM (AP) — A cool little man with a tight voice told the Eichmann trial court today that he saw the Nazi death mill at Sobibor kill an estimated million Jews in 17 months.

Dov Freiberg, 34, now an industrial expert in Israel, took the prosecution's case into the infamous camp in Poland where the only exit was the gas chamber.

Only 15 at the time, Freiberg survived by work and wits and at last ran away with about 300 in a mass break in 1943. He hid in the forests for a year.

As the prosecution went into the final week of its case against Adolf Eichmann as the supervisor of the Nazi extermination program, Freiberg told a tale of torture, blood and horror.

"Death became a way of life there," he said. "We got accustomed to it."

Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner presented three survivors of the death camps during the session, but Freiberg was the principal witness.

"One can never cease being both amazed and inspired by the prose of Abraham Lincoln, and even more importantly by the ideas which he used that prose to express." Acting Dean Charles H. Glatfelter told an audience of non-reuniting alumni and friends at Gettysburg College Saturday evening.

The class of 1911 was awarded a trophy for the highest percentage of class members attending, 62 per cent. The class of 1916 was runner-up with 50 per cent attending and the class of 1921 with 25 per cent attending.

Vice President Diehl and chairman of the Loyalty Fund reported that as of Saturday, $53,048 had been contributed by alumni, exceeding the $50,000 goal set for this year's fund campaign.

He expressed his appreciation to all alumni who contributed and to the cooperation of the association's officers and staff in the alumni office for their help. He also cited the classes of 1961, 1962 and 1963 for their contributions.

Fred Fielding, president of the 1961 graduating class, presented Diehl a check for the balance in their class treasury to be earmarked for the new library addition. Contributions were also announced by Clyde Black, president of the class of 1962, and a representative of the class of 1963.

Alumni service certificates and citations were presented by Howard B. Maxwell, director of alumni relations, to Harry McCreary '21, of Indiana, Pa., and Harrison Kaufmann '06, of Raleigh, N. C.

HONOR MRS. BERKEY

Mrs. Cora Berkey '94, the first woman to graduate from Gettysburg College and the only living member of her class, was given a standing ovation when she was presented a plaque for meritorious service and citation by the Rev. Kenneth S. Ehrhart '25, chairman, medals committee. Mrs. Berkey who resides in Gettysburg is still active and regularly attends college and alumni functions at Gettysburg.

The other plaque for meritorious service and citation was presented to President Willard S. Paul by President Brennenman, who paid tribute to the college president for his outstanding efforts in behalf of the college, its students, faculty, administration and alumni.

PRESIDENT REPORTS

In his annual "State of the College" message, President Paul said:

"This is the fifth annual State of the College talk I have been privileged to bring to the alumni. I leave you, three years ahead of mandatory retirement, only because of doctor's advice. I will publish my final report to the Board of Trustees later. Today, I want to dwell briefly on plans not yet completed, and on the future.

"Education is changing more rapidly today than at any time in any of our lifetimes. Also much of it has become obsolete. No longer is the atom the smallest particle of matter; no longer is it true that what goes up must come down, new concepts are developing in practically every discipline.

RAISES STANDARDS

"The college has raised its standards in both teaching and learning. But it has only scratched the surface. A constant up-grading must be sought by all who are in any way interested in Gettysburg College. Unless this is done, unless we recruit the Christian faculty-scholar, unless we bring in the intellectually superior student, unless we keep our curriculum flexible and up-to-date we are doomed to mediocrity, or worse.

"Out of our budget of well over two million for next year we are allotting one million plus, or about fifty per cent, for instruction. It is not enough. Our comprehensive fee next September will be $1,100. This is an increase of 51 per cent in five years. Student fees now carry 84 per cent of the budget.

"Grants to students in five years have increased 59 per cent and total aid 144 per cent. However, us toward meeting them is the spirit of Lincoln, who had to think new thoughts, accept new truths, take new steps, in order to preserve what was best in an old Union."

"Our yardstick in determining the fervency of the support we give our alma mater should be the degree to which it tries to meet the tests, not of the 1920's, not of the 1930's, but the tests of the 1960's. And those tests are severe. The spirit which alone can point

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Samuel A. Purviance, Esq.:

Samuel A. Purviance, Esq., has resigned the office of Attorney General of Pennsylvania, for what reason is not known. It gives us pleasure to announce that Governor Curtin has offered the Attorneyship of Pennsylvania to Hon. Wm. M. Meredith, of Philadelphia, and that Mr. Meredith has accepted the appointment. The selection is a most fortunate one for the State and the country.

Jefferson Davis: President Davis is in the field! He reached Richmond last week—spoke all along the road, with his aid, Mr. Wigfall, and Toombs, of Geo., and also at Richmond on Thursday. He told them he looked upon them as the "last hope of liberty"—and to the last breath of his life, he would be "wholly their own." "We will see what we will see."

German Reformed Congregation:

In tearing down the old brick church at New Oxford, week before last, preparatory to the erection of another by the German Reformed Congregation, the workmen came to the cornerstone, which they opened and took there from a small bottle containing wine in excellent preservation and of excellent flavor. The bottle was apparently as full as it could possibly have been when placed there. There were also several silver coins, from 50 to 12½ cent pieces—these were slightly darkened, but quite distinct and good. The Bible, hymn book, papers &c. had moulded to pieces, and could not be read—their decay being attributable to the tin box in which they had been deposited. The cornerstone was laid forty-years ago.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Pennsylvania Reserves: The Pennsylvania Reserves held their reunion in Reading yesterday, ex-Gov. Curtin being re-elected President. In the course of his opening address he controverted the assertion that Round Top had been held by others than the Reserves, and declared that it was they who held that very important position. Col. W. B. Maun, E. A. Pennypacker and David Taggart were appointed a committee to memorialize the Legislature for an appropriation of $500 for a monument to each Pennsylvania Regiment engaged at Gettysburg.

John Kelly Dead:

New York—After struggling for two years with a disease, which all knew to be fatal, John Kelly died this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. There was no expectation that death would be so sudden. This morning he was up and partly dressed and walked around his room for a few minutes. Near noon he became ill and it was soon evident that the end was near. He received the sacraments of the Catholic Church, and was conscious until within a half hour of his death. His wife was by his bedside at the last. The great Tammany leader was born in New York April 20, 1822, of Irish parentage. He worked at his trade and was 31 years of age when elected to his first office, that of Alderman, in 1853. He soon came to the front as an and ruled in Tammany Hall with despotism.

Dedication On Thursday: On Thursday next the two monuments erected by the Delaware regiments will be dedicated—one on the avenue leading to Round Top, the other on the Wheatfield. We have not been advised as to the program.

Today's Talk

THINGS THAT MATTER

In the first place, life matters. Just the minute you think or say that it doesn't you insult God, you repudiate the matchless beauty of every flower, you obliterate every opaled sunset from your memory, and silence every strain of music that bubbles forth from the throats and hearts of bird and man.

Beauty matters—else why are you so thrilled when it touches your feelings? Beauty of nature, beauty of character, beauty of thought—are not each of these the inheritance of all from the great God?

Kindness, gentleness, thoughtfulness toward others—these things matter. Oh so much. How much it means to be in a world where these things are and where they may be found and then given out!

Bravery matters. To go through hardship and discouragement and yet not to complain is much more to a human being than to have great riches and to be applauded by large multitudes. Sometimes the greatest applause in this world comes to one right out of one's own heart.

It matters when you know that you have done your best, that you have not shirked but have stood your ground for the right. No human being was ever put into this world to shift for himself alone. Just a little looking around will prove to you that God is always mindful. Don't blame Him when things go wrong. God is in people—then why blame God?

Find God in you—then start all over again and be brave. Be glad that you can see, that you can feel, that you can work. Refine the low grade ore of your abilities first. The ambition and heart to dig deep for the rich veins of gold that lie within you will follow. And with this, wealth and happiness are sure to be yours.

Just remember that, first of all, YOU matter.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Learn To Ignore"

TEN-FINGERED MICE

When a cake is nicely frosted and it's put away for tea
And it looks as trim and proper as a chocolate cake should be,
Would it puzzle you at evening, as you brought it from the ledge,
To find the chocolate missing from its smooth and shiny edge?

As you viewed the cake in sorrow, would you look around and say:
"Who's been nibbling in the pantry when he should have been at play?"
And if little eyes look guilty as they hungered for a slice,
Would you take dad's explanation that it must have been the mice?

Oh, I'm sorry for the household that can keep a frosted cake
Smooth and perfect through the daytime, for the hearts of them must ache;
For it must be very lonely to be living in a house
Where the pantry's never ravaged by a glad ten-fingered mouse.

Though I've traveled far past forty, I confess that I, myself, Even now will nip a morsel from the good things on the shelf.
And I never blame the youngsters who discover chocolate cake
For the tiny little samples which exultantly they take.

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—President Bill Veeck is expected to hand down the final decision today on the sale of controlling interest in the Chicago White Sox.

"It's all up to Veeck," said Vice President Hank Greenberg, "if he decides to sell, we sell. If not, we stay."
Veeck, Greenberg and A.C. Allyn Jr. own 54 per cent of Sox stock and their interest is being sought by a syndicate which includes entertainer Danny Thomas. Spokesman and apparent head of the group is Chicago attorney Bernard Epton.

ST. ALOYSIUS FUND DRIVE IS OVER THE TOP

The Rev. Dr. John E. Metz, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, announced at the morning Masses on Sunday that the pledges in the financial campaign for the parish plant renewal program will reach an approximate $115,000, which is $15,000 over the original minimum goal set of $100,000.

Fr. Metz expressed his sincere appreciation for the whole-hearted cooperation of the parishioners and invoked God's blessing on each and every one who had anything to do with the success of the campaign. Some work has already been completed on the church bell system and work on the church proper is expected to begin in about three weeks.

Daily Mass this week will begin at 7:30 a.m. except on Friday when the Mass, a part of the annual school closing program, will begin at 8:15 a.m. and all of the parochial school children will attend. Closing exercises will be held at 8 p.m. on Friday in the parish hall. Evening devotions on Sunday will be discontinued until September. Next Sunday the annual summer schedule of Masses will become effective and the Masses will begin at 7 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. A second collection to help defray the cost of insurance on the parish buildings will be received at next Sunday's Masses.

NOTIFIED OF MEETING

Littlestown members of the Adams County Girl Scout Council have received notice of a special meeting to be held on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church social room in Gettysburg for the purpose of voting on a proposed plan of consolidation. The plan will be available at the council office for inspection at any time prior to the meeting. Voting may be done by proxy.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wantz, 603 W. King St., Littlestown, was celebrated on Sunday afternoon in the Starlite room of Dutterer's Restaurant in Littlestown. Mr. Wantz, son of the late William J. and Nettie Gearhart Wantz, and Mrs. Wantz, the former Mary Ella Cutsail, daughter of William and Maggie Bowers Cutsail, were married on June 6, 1936, by the Rev. Dr. Guy P. Brady at Grace Reformed Church, Taneytown.

The Rev. Dr. Brady was present on Sunday and offered the invocation. The couple's attendants on their wedding day were J. Ralph Reaver and Doris Parr, who are now Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Reaver, York, and who were present for the celebration. Mr. Wantz is a pattern maker for Cambridge Rubber Company, Taneytown, where Mrs. Wantz is also employed. The program on Sunday included a story of the life of Leroy and Mary Ella, written and presented by Chester S. Byers, who also sang as a tenor solo "My Task." There were remarks by the Rev. Dr. Brady and a vocal trio selection "O Perfect Love" by Mrs. Byers. Miss Susie Furlow and her mother, Mrs. Estella Furlow, who also provided accompaniment for the musical selections.

said Epton Sunday, "Now it is up to them. There's no question of money. We have more than necessary. I made the offer to Mr. Allyn and also gave him a check."

NOT EARNST MONEY

Epton would not disclose the amount of the check nor would he call it "earnst money."

The Epton group reportedly has offered $4.8 million for the Veeck stock.

Veeck's combine bought the 54 per cent from Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney for $2.7 million two years ago. The contract provided for a $175,000 rebate if the group failed within a year, to acquire the 80 per cent of stock necessary for tax depreciation benefits.

The other 46 per cent of the club is held by Chuck Comiskey who failed to gain control of the club even before his sister sold to Veeck. Comiskey has never let up in his efforts to gain control but it isn't considered likely that he would exceed or match the reported Epton offer.

Find Body In Delaware Bay

VILLAS, N.J. (AP)—The body of David Quail, 25, of Philadelphia, was found Sunday in the Delaware Bay.

He had been missing since Monday when a rowboat from which he and three others were fishing capsized off Pierce's Point near here.

The other three men managed to right the boat and were towed to shore. Quail was identified by his brother, James, 24, of Darby, Pa., one of the three rescued.

400,000 IN N. Y. WORKING UNDERGROUND

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

What is home without an oilcloth? That is the U.S. government's job title for a housekeeper. Note to Sunday drivers: America now has 3½ million miles of roads. So why crowd?

New York City probably has the world's largest subsurface working population. About 400,000 people here earn a living underground doing everything from running subways to hunting rats, from selling newspapers to accepting bank deposits.

BIZARRE DEATHS

People of genius sometimes meet bizarre deaths. Example: Sherwood Anderson, pioneer Midwest writer of realism, died after swallowing a toothpick.

Our quotable notables: "Be virtuous and you will be happy; but you will be lonesome, sometimes."—Bill Nye.

A land on more and more wheels: Detroit is our motor capital, but cars are put together now in 41 of our states. And one out of six workers gets a paycheck from some facet of this industry.

BACK TO SCHOOL

You're never too old to learn. Today more than half a million folks in the 60-to-70 age bracket have gone back to school. Some are studying how to retire, others are training themselves in new skills. And isn't there a great human majesty in sunset citizens who have the courage to seek a fresh purpose and a new dawn?

Hint to wives: "Marriage is like a bottle of champagne. It lasts longer when you keep the mouth closed."

Restless America has never accepted the historical thesis that its frontier was closed. Doesn't very change bring another frontier? Last year about 36 million Americans—one out of five—moved to a new residence. We are still a nation on the march. Executive signs: On the desk of Irving J. Botner, shoe polish firm president: "Don't wear out your welcome. It's impossible to replace."

Tip to mothers: Raise your child to be a scientist. The average pay of a scientist in 1960 was $9,000.

Every girl who gets engaged thinks she wears a perfect diamond. The truth: only one per cent of diamonds are flawless.

Wiseacre of the week: Singer Genie Pace says you can always tell a bachelor from a married man—one is cagey, one is caged.

MOST FIGHTFUL

More than 1½ million Americans are named Smith, and John is the favorite first name in the English-speaking world. But the most popular name on earth is Mohammed, spelled in many ways.

You think ballet dancers are sissy? The great Vaslav Nijinsky alone was ever able to perform the "entrechat dix"—crossing and uncrossing the feet 10 times in a single leap . . . try it yourself in front of a mirror. What is your score?

It was Johann Wolfgang von Goethe who observed, "There is nothing more frightful than ignorance in action."

lead to 3½ by sweeping a doubleheader from third-place Reading, 6-3 and 2-1, while Springfield defeated Johnstown 6-2 in a single game.

The double loss for Reading left the Indians nine games out of first, Johnstown, in fourth, is 10 games from the top.

The fifth and sixth place teams, Williamsport and Lancaster, split a doubleheader. Lancaster, 12 games out, took the opener 7-5, but Williamsport bounced back to win the nightcap by the same score. Williamsport is 10½ games out of first.

ST. JOHN'S NEWS

Raymond Reinaman, John Morehead, Francis Gerrick and Samuel Harman were ushers for the worship service on the first Sunday after Trinity in St. John's Lutheran Church. "Follow the Gleam" was the subject of the sermon delivered by Rev. William C. Karns, pastor. The epistle lesson was read from John 4:16-21 and the gospel lesson was read from Luke 16:19-31. An anthem was sung by the choir. The altar flowers were placed in memory of Mrs. Harry Bloom by the family.

John Morehead is lay delegate and Charles H. Boyd is alternate from St. John's to the Central Pennsylvania Synod for the meeting today through Thursday at Gettysburg College. Mrs. William J. Lippy, Littlestown R. 1, will be hostess to the Alta Hummer Organization of the United Lutheran Church Women for the monthly meeting at 8 p.m. on Tuesday. The council will hold its June session at the church Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The Junior Choir will have rehearsal at 7 p.m. on Wednesday. Next Sunday there will be Sunday School at 9 a.m. and the annual Children's Day service at 10 a.m.

William Chester Mummert, infant son of Stanley Eugene and Anne Martha (Karns) Mummert, E. King St., was baptized during the Sunday morning worship service in St. John's Church by his grandfather, Rev. W. C. Karns, pastor. The child was born March 10, 1961, in the Hanover Hospital. Faulk Upsets Rawls In Western Open

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Playing some of the best golf of her career, blue-eyed Mary Lena Faulk wrapped up the Women's Western Open Tournament here Sunday with a 10-under par 290 and the $1,373 winner's chunk of the $7,600 pot.

The Thomasville, Ga., veteran, playing for the Sea Island, Ga., Country Club, tacked on a 73 for the final 18 holes over the par 75 Belle Meade Country Club course. It was all the more remarkable in coming, as it did, after Faulk set a course record of 67 in Saturday's third round. That was good enough to overtake the first day's leader, Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., whose 69 was a course record for women up to that time.

Rawls, the present U.S. Golf Association Open champion, earned second money with 296, two strokes ahead of Mickey Wright of Dallas. Tex. Louise Suggs of Cincinnati had 299 for the 72 holes to nab fourth place money.

CARRY BACK LAME IN LAST PLACE FINISH

By JOHN CHANDLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP)—Carry Back, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner who failed dismally in the Belmont Stakes, must have been hurting in the left front ankle when he blew a chance Saturday to become the ninth Triple Crown hero.

Another colt owned by a Miami resident, Jacob Sher's Sherluck, was a romping winner of the $148,650 Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park. Carry Back, bet down to favoritism at odds of 9 to 20 by a howling crowd of 51,586, came home seventh in a field of nine in the 93rd running of the big 3-year-old classic. It was one of those dramatic finishes where a majority of the fans didn't see the winner finish—they were looking back and wondering what happened to Carry Back.

Carry Back is owned by Katherine Price of Miami, and trained by her husband, Jack, who reported the colt lame upon arrival Sunday at Monmouth Park from New York.

PULLED MUSCLE

"It's his left front ankle," said Price. "He was lame when he was unloaded from the van that took him from Belmont to Monmouth Park. Preliminary X-rays show no fracture and I'm inclined to think it's a pulled muscle. But we intend to take other X-rays to try to make sure."

When Leonard P. Sasso's Globe-master set the slow Belmont pace, and Sherluck tagged along in second place ready to strike for the big cash in the final length of a mile, Carry Back was obviously in trouble.

Carry Back, who won the first two legs of the Triple Crown at Louisville and Baltimore in May, dropped back to last place before the field went to the final turn with a bit more than half a mile to travel Saturday.

NO RACING ROOM

Jockey Johnny Sellers, who had accelerated Carry Back to his sensational scores at Churchill Downs and Pimlico, said afterwards that the Price colt "had a rough trip, and there was no racing room anywhere."

Officials re-played the race movies on a closed circuit TV later, and a rear view of the horses heading down the home stretch showed Carry Back bearing in from the middle of the track over to the rail most of the final quarter mile. That indicated his left fore ankle, as stated by Price, was giving trouble and Carry Back was favoring it.

Senior Loop Still Wild Scramble; Phils Beat Bucs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National League race is a wild scramble with Los Angeles out front by only a half game and San Francisco tied with Cincinnati for second place.

Despite Los Angeles' 4-2 defeat at the hands of San Francisco Sunday, the Dodgers retained the lead because Cincinnati had to be satisfied with a split against Chicago.

After Sam Jones ran into a wild streak in the seventh inning, the Giants' once more called on Stu Miller, who stopped the Dodgers the rest of the way.

The Giants' 4-2 victory, set up by Felipe Alou's two-run homer off loser Stan Williams, cut the Dodgers' National League lead to a half game. The Giants and Cincinnati are tied for second, five percentage points back.

THREW A 3-HITTER

Cincinnati could have regained the lead but they stumbled over Chicago after winning the first game. Jim Maloney threw a three-hitter at Chicago in the 3-1 opener but the Cubs downed the Reds 8-2 in the second game.

Warren Spahn, spinning along toward another 20-game season, won his sixth of the year and the 29th of his career, by pitching Milwaukee to a 7-1 decision over St. Louis. He gave up only six hits.

Don Ferrarese, a refugee from the American League, made his first victory for Philadelphia a 5-0 job against Pittsburgh. It was the second time in three days the Pirates had been shut out by the Phils.

CROWD OF 47,463

The Giants' victory over the Dodgers was the first in their last six meetings and salvaged the final game of a series. A crowd of 47,463 saw the Giants get two off Stan Williams in the first and add another pair on Alou's homer in the seventh. Los Angeles scored on Johnny Roseboro's homer in the fifth and again in the seventh on Jones' walk with the bases loaded.

Young Maloney, who was 21 Friday, had a shutout in the first game until Chicago's George Altman homered with one out in the ninth. Jim O'Toole did not have the same good fortune. Back-to-back homers by Ron Santo and Ernie Banks in the first started him on the way to his fifth defeat despite Frank Robinson's 13th home run.

Spahn lost a chance for his 53rd big league shutout when he uncorked a wild pitch that let in a run in the fourth inning. Home runs by Lee Maye and Frank Bolling accounted for five of the Braves' runs off Bob Gibson.

The Phillies knocked out Vinegar Bend Mizell in the second inning. Manager Danny Murtagh for the second time this season called on Bob Friend, a starter, for relief work. Ferrarese allowed only five hits.

GRIFFITH WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World welterweight champion Emile Griffith, $50,000 richer, his crown intact, has his sights set in the not too distant future on the middleweight title.

The amazing 22-year-old New Yorker, back home today, wrecked challenger Gaspar Ortega in 12 rounds Saturday night and handed the game gladiator from Tijuana, Mexico, the first knockout in his 86 ring engagements.

Griffith and his co-managers, Gil Clancy and Harold Arnold, left word they will honor their contract to give ex-champion Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba a return match for the title.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner of New York, a witness to the Griffith-Ortega bout, said the Paret engagement probably will be held in Madison Square Garden Sept. 16.

Gettysburg won its initial victory of the season while Arendtsville triumphed to remain the only unbeaten team in the South Penn League in games played Sunday afternoon.

Six-hit pitching by Gary Fair and Tom Duane, plus the strong hitting of Johnston, Snyder and Orner in the third inning, carried Gettysburg to a 9-7 victory over McSherrystown here. The locals tabbed four runs in the third inning and three more in the fifth, then tied the game with two tallies in the eighth after the visitors had rallied for four runs in the seventh.

After yielding a first inning homerun to G. Billman, Dick Pitzer, Arendtsville's ace moundsman, blanked invading Hunterstown the rest of the way to gain a 2-1 triumph. Arendtsville pushed over both of its runs in the last of the third inning off Reichart. Pitzer was also the big gun on the attack for the winners with a single, double and triple.

LITTLESTOWN ADVANCES

Littlestown moved into second place by edging Harney 3-2 on the later's field in another well-played game. It was a pitchers' duel between Worley and Sweeney with the former gaining the decision when his team scored three unearned runs in the top of the second.

Fairfield moved into a tie for place by defeating Cashtown at Fairfield 7-2. John Mort hurled the distance for Fairfield, giving up five hits and fanning six. Jim Neely of Cashtown yielded only seven hits but was the victim of poor support. Eddie Spence rapped three hits for Fairfield while Glenn Herring poled two for Cashtown.

Brushtown blanked Mummasburg 4-0 at Brushtown as Butch Miller bested Earl Plank. Score by innings:

Taneytown blasted out a 13-3 victory at Bonneauville as the home team contributed to its own downfall via errors.

Indians Push Tigers For Lead; Bosox Rap Orioles

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland is making a big move in the American League race by winning 18 of its last 22 games but it can't match the home run boom of the front-running Detroit Tigers.

The secret of Detroit's ability can be read in the Sunday box scores. The Tigers' eight home runs were hit by eight different men.

Sure, the big men hit a few. Rocky Colavito got No. 15, Norm Cash No. 12, and Dick Brown No. 9. But the list also included Chico Fernandez, Bubba Morton, Mike Roarke, Jake Wood and Billy Bruton.

LEAD IN HOMERS

The Tigers now lead the league in home runs with a total of 61, a statistic that is almost as startling as their long tenure in first place.

Detroit took two falls out of the groggy Minnesota Twins Sunday 10-4 and 9-3. The Twins now have lost nine in a row and 14 of their last 15.

Cleveland continued to streak along on the trail of the Tigers by sweeping two from the Los Angeles Angels, who can't seem to do much when they get out of Wrigley Field. The Indians won 5-3 and 8-4.

STAFFORD GOES ROUTE

New York finally found a pitcher besides Whitey Ford who could go the route in Bill Stafford. He proceeded to hold Chicago to seven hits while the White Sox chipped in with five errors, easing the Yanks' way to a 10-1 romp.

Boston beat Baltimore 6-3 on Joe Ginsberg's pinch two-run single in the last of the ninth. It was Ginsberg's first hit of the year.

Jim Archer, who escaped from the Kansas City bullpen on the suggestion of owner Charlie Finley, went all the way to top Washington 8-5 although he gave up 15 hits, five in the ninth.

3 HR'S IN 8TH

The Tigers rally exploded the power to back up Frank Lary en route to his eighth victory in the opener. Brown, Wood and Fernandez hit their homers in the eighth inning. Bob Bruce gave way to Paul Foytack, the eventual winner, in the second game of a doubleheader played before 32,761 at Detroit.

John Romano continued his streak, hitting safely in his 18th and 19th games in Cleveland's sweep over the Angels. Jim Perry needed help from Bob Allen and Frank Funk in the first. Wynn Hawkins, all of whose five victories have come on Sunday, got a hand from Bobby Locke in the late innings of the second. The Yanks got four runs off Billy Pierce in the first inning on three walks, an error by Luis Aparicio and a three-run double by Elston Howard. Later, Roger Maris hit his 15th homer.

Ginsberg, winning hit in Boston off Hoyt Wilhelm came after the Red Sox had failed three times to bring home the tying run from third base. Jim Gentile hit No. 14 for the Orioles.

Kansas City climbed past Washington into fifth place on Archer's victory. Among the 13 hits by the A's was Andy Carey's third homer.

WILL APPOINT BOATING CZAR

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP)—The State Fish Commission is planning to appoint a czar to administer boating regulations in the Commonwealth.

Commissioners told 40 sportsmen Sunday they were looking for someone to fill the post but they didn't say what his salary would be. The appointment's official title will be assistant executive director in charge of boating.

The commission's plans were outlined at the first in a series of public sessions it plans from time to time to outline its program to sportsmen's groups. Attending were representatives of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, Pennsylvania Pleasure Boat Association, commission officials and several state legislators.

CRITICIZED BILL

Spokesmen for the boating group criticized a commission-endorsed House bill which would tailor the state's boating regulations so that they conformed to the federal Bonner Boating Act. Among other things, the legislation would retain enforcement of boating laws in the commission.

The Boating Association is backing a Senate bill to transfer enforcement authority to the Department of Forests and Waters.

Fairfield Pony League

Both of the scheduled games in the Fairfield Pony League were rained out on Saturday.

The Mummasburg-Amvets game was re-scheduled for tonight at Fairfield. No date has been set for the Fairfield-Cashtown game. On Thursday the Amvets will play at Cashtown while Mummasburg is at Fairfield.

7 HONORARY DEGREES GIVEN BY COLLEGE

The following received honorary degrees at commencement exercises at Gettysburg College Sunday afternoon:

GEN. L. L. LEMNITZER

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was the speaker for the commissioning ceremonies for Army and Air Force ROTC Sunday morning and received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

A native of Honesdale and a West Point graduate, Gen. Lemnitzer served until World War II in various artillery assignments in the U. S. and the Philippines. During World War II, he was commanding general of the 34th Antiaircraft Brigade in England and during the Tunisian and Sicilian Campaigns. He served on Gen. Eisenhower's staff and Gen. Mark Clark's staff.

Since World War II, he has served as a member of the joint strategic survey committee, Joint Chiefs of Staff; commanding general of the 11th Airborne Division; commanding general of the 7th Division in Korea; deputy chief of staff for plans and research, and commander-in-chief, Far East and United Nations Commands and governor of the Ryuku Islands.

Gen. Lemnitzer's decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal, the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit and he has been awarded 19 foreign decorations.

LT. GEN. E. J. STACKPOLE

Lt. Gen. Edward J. Stackpole, Harrisburg, received an honorary Doctor of Literature degree.

He graduated from Yale University in 1915, and earned a commission as captain in the Infantry. While on assignment to the 28th Division in World War I, he was seriously wounded in France and was hospitalized for two years.

Between wars he was active in the Pennsylvania National Guard and attained the rank of major general. He served as a commanding general in World War II and received numerous decorations for valor. He later commanded the 28th Division until his retirement in 1947.

After many years of studying Civil War campaigns, Gen. Stackpole, now a prominent publisher and Harrisburg civic leader, has authored four books on the subject. His book, "They Met at Gettysburg," is now in its fourth printing.

Gen. Stackpole is a director and president of four corporations and is member of director and management boards of several other institutions related to the public interest.

General Lemnitzer Tells ROTC Grads Importance Of "Service, Leadership"

General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Sunday morning delivered the address at the commissioning of Army and Air Force ROTC graduates at Gettysburg College and awarded commissions to the graduates.

His address follows in full: "It is a very great privilege to be with you today, in this particular place and on this very important occasion. Naturally, it is always a pleasure for me, as a native Pennsylvanian, to return to my home state. However, there are two reasons why my pleasure is even greater today. "First, there is the chance to visit with your president, General Paul. It has been my privilege to know and admire General Paul, in peace and war, for fully 20 years—since we served together in the old General Headquarters of the Army in Washington in 1941.

INSPIRATION, CONFIDENCE

"Second, there is the inspiration and renewed confidence which it gives me to see this impressive sampling of the fine young men who will shortly be taking their places in vital positions of leadership in our armed forces.

"To the graduates who are about to be commissioned—and to the families and friends, who have so much right to be proud today—I offer my warmest congratulations.

"I congratulate you on the successful completion of your course of study at this splendid college. You have had the advantage of the instruction and guidance given you by the able and dedicated members of its faculty and staff, and the benefit of the efforts of the families who have helped to make your attendance here possible. I am sure that the spiritual teachings that are an integral part of the curriculum, and the historic surroundings in which you have studied, have been a valuable source of inspiration to you. With this is the opportunity you have had to associate with people of the caliber of General Paul and the faculty and staff of Gettysburg College; while this advantage cannot be measured in any finite terms, I know that it has been, and will always be, of the greatest value to you.

SERVICE, LEADERSHIP

"For all this, I congratulate you. But most of all, I congratulate you for what lies ahead—your opportunity for service and leadership.

"I know that you have a full schedule today. Therefore, I want to keep my remarks brief. However, I would like to say a few words on these two very important matters—service and leadership.

"For many of you, the award of your commission will be followed by your entry into a period of active military duty before you go on in your civilian profession. For some of you, it will mark the beginning of a lifetime career as professional military men. I want to mention in passing that I consider it most impressive that such a large proportion of your number—eight out of 53—are planning on such careers.

"In any case, for all of you this ceremony symbolizes a substantial achievement. You have mastered the instructional material which has been presented to you. You have shown that you possess qualities of leadership—and its essential prerequisite, which is character. These accomplishments, coupled with the thorough and comprehensive education you have received at this college, have provided the basis for your appointment as second lieutenants of the Army, Marine Corps, and Air Force. In the words of your commissions, you have earned 'special trust and confidence' in your 'patriotism, valor, fidelity, and abilities.'

ESSENTIAL QUALITIES

"These terms are not used lightly. They define the qualities which are essential in any man who is called upon to assume the solemn responsibilities of military leadership. Nothing less than these qualities is acceptable, because you are being entrusted with authority over the lives and well-being of your men.

"Never forget the obligation you owe them. They will give you obedience. You must give them the example and inspiration, concern, and effort which justify that obedience. It is true that modern military science requires an officer to master many technical complexities, but do not conclude that this means that an officer today is primarily a technician. Never forget that your essential function as an officer—as a man placed in authority over others—is leadership, and that leadership is justified only by rendering service.

"This applies to every officer, in every grade. It is not limited to generals and colonels, captains and majors. Indeed, it has particular application to second lieutenants. This is so because they are the ones who furnish the immediate leadership to men at the basic operating level. In so doing, the function which they are performing in the complex and important activities which comprise the maintenance of our national security is absolutely vital.

CHALLENGING DUTIES

"In a few short months, many of you will be actively taking up duties in this great task. You will find these duties challenging. I am sure that you will also find them rewarding. Whether you continue in active military service or enter the reserve components, you will be rendering a major service in support of your country and of the well-being of your fellow Americans. And despite the attraction of material rewards, I can assure you that you will find the greatest and most lasting satisfaction of all in the meaningful service you render to others.

"In this task, you have been found qualified to occupy positions of responsibility and authority. Your commission is a recognition of these qualifications. However, I am sure you realize that beyond this, it is an expression of trust. I feel confident that your actions in the future will fully justify that trust. Gentlemen, I extend to each of you my sincere congratulations and my warmest welcome into the ranks of the officer corps of the Army, Marine Corps, and the Air Force."

QUEST FOR THE EASY WAY

"You have received your education in a church-related college. This may not always have seemed a blessing. At times it may have struck you as a burden, even a bore. But you have lived in the shadow of a Holy Mountain. Whether you rejoiced in its presence or not, the Church has been close to you . . . and by its very nearness it has dominated the horizon. Now, as you commit the course of your life, it is hardly surprising that a voice within should whisper: 'Lift up your eyes unto the hills!'

"A second crucial choice confronts you today: Whether to succumb to the temptation of amateur living—the endless quest for the easy way . . .

"It would be stupid and patently impractical for me to say: 'Don't be an organization man!' No one survives in industry today, or in politics or in society . . . or even in the church, for that matter—until he becomes an organization man.

BASIC CHRISTIAN TENET

"This isn't a reprehensible thing. Our climbers had to rope themselves together before they started up that dark North Wall. What is reprehensible is our contentment with the easy way, our search for the short-cut, the back road.

"A few weeks ago a junior executive of an electrical firm admitted to a congressional committee that he was fully aware of the illegality of the price-fixing sessions he had been delegated to attend. But, he testified, he was flattered to have been assigned such an important responsibility and (in his own words) it is easier to go along with policy than to question it.

"May I offer you the basic Christian tenet for the organization man: Jesus said, 'By their fruits ye shall know them.' You dare not let your character be molded by the organization which employs you. Rather, you must mold the character of that organization!

LONELY TO LEAD

"Putting it another way—one cannot separate his salary from his soul. Don't believe for one day that you are being paid simply for your knowledge and ability. If they have hired you, they have employed your whole self—your conscience and principles and moral convictions, as well as your technical skill. And in the emerging character of American free enterprise it will be these qualities as much as your business acumen which will prove your value to the organization.

"There will always be some who seek the soft trail to success. But brave men never go up the easy way.

"I must warn you, friends, that there are moments when everything depends on you. Somebody has to lead. And he has to have the lonely kind of courage that lets him leave the others waiting and wondering while he goes on to show the way.

"Christ said 'I am the way, the truth and the life, no man cometh unto the Father but by me.' Out of that utterance came the sacred slang of the apostolic age. Men did not call Christianity a religion, a theology, a creed. They called it 'The Way.'

"And The Way has always led around the bend from the known to the unknown.

"You can't reach the summit of life depending on the faith of others. This is the great spiritual fallacy of our age. We have built our religion too much on the instinct of the herd. We figure that being a Christian means being part of a group—professing what they profess, singing what they sing, pursuing the well-worn trails that they pursue.

"But if you could peer into the deep recesses of the hearts of many who seem only part of the herd, you would find indelibly engraved there the memory of a great Traverse . . . a day when they discovered the true meaning of faith by groping forward into the unknown and planting their hopes and destiny in the promises of Jesus Christ.

NOTHING MIGHTIER

"Don't build your faith simply on the convictions of someone else. Don't be content with mere church membership and participation in the activities of a congregation. Take your Christian heritage to the dangerous and frightening moments of life—and when others hold back and wait helplessly, prove for yourself and all men that Christianity is still The Way . . .

"You might as well learn today—if you haven't already—that there are forces man cannot control. To me it is the holiest sort of egotism to believe that our education or intellect equips us to be masters of our destiny. I cannot promise you that the storms of life will go away with a prayer. But I can promise you that when there are storms—you'll have nothing mightier than prayer with which to face them!

"Are you ready to risk and sacrifice in order that others may find happiness and beauty in life? Pause now and realize that it has been the unselfishness of others which has brought you to this day: Parents, pastors, teachers, roommates, fraternity brothers. You name them. And remember, too, the sacrifices of nameless others who made Gettysburg College what you found it, and who are striving yet to make its influence still greater in the lives of others who will follow you to this campus.

BEAR OUR SHARE

"There is little we can do to repay our debt to those who have given us opportunity and blessing. Little except to make our own share of sacrifices, and bear our own burden of risks . . . for those who will behold the Mountain after we have climbed it. . . .

"History, my young friends, has its changing seasons. For decades or whole centuries the green turns to grey, and bleakness and chill seem everywhere. It is hard to tell just when the seasons change . . . but many would warn us that we are facing today another of the winters of history.

"If this be true—if things are to get worse before they get better—your generation and mine must be equal to our time. That's why I want to remember the men on the mountain, and the amazing decision that brought them to the Elger in winter. Say it boldly in your heart: this is the great hour for Christians—this is the best season for our climb.

"There never has been a day in which the contrast between theism and atheism has been clearer. Never a day in which truth and falsehood have stood so naked before men's eyes. It's a time for Elijah to come out of his cave, and build up the crumbling altar, and cry again to the people: 'If the Lord be God, then follow Him! But if Baal, then follow him!'

"There you confront it—the simple choice that makes this an age of promise for men who have the courage and conviction to climb to their destiny on the truth of Christ. The footing is firm. It remains only for you and me to pit our faith against the raw elements of hate and fear and oppression.

"Lift up your eyes unto the hills. The foundations of this Holy Mountain shall never crumble. And though bitter nights may find us clinging to some precarious ledge on the brink of space . . . one glorious morn, to the summit we will come.

"There the Sun is gleaming—even now."

Baccalaureate Service Held In Fairfield

The baccalaureate service for the Senior class of the Fairfield Joint High School was held Sunday evening in the school auditorium. For the "Call to Worship," Dale Ritchey read "Psalm 96." Following the responsive reading led by Miss Nancy Kirme, the audience sang "Come Thou Almighty King." The Scripture was read by Miss Nancy Kugler. The senior chorus, directed by Edward Cashmore, sang "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Rev. Robert A. MacAskill, pastor of the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church, spoke on "How to Go Places in Life." He emphasized three needs to make the journey through life successful and satisfying. "First," he said, "we need the proper perspective. View a broad horizon rather than adopt the limited outlook of an archeological discovery made recently, which advised that everybody wants to write a book; children no longer obey their parents, and the world is coming to an end. Though it is a catastrophic world," he said, "it is a world of opportunities for through Christ Who strengthens me, I can do all things."

"Secondly, we need the sense of divine purpose. Be not too busy making a living that we forget to make a life."

"Thirdly, become involved in a cause greater than yourself. Be like Elijah who received the lesson of history and responded."

The audience sang "Faith of our Fathers" after which Rev. MacAskill pronounced the benediction.

GEN. J. LENTZ AT 2ND REUNION OF CLASS OF '16

The man responsible for training millions U.S. World War II soldiers attended his second reunion as a graduate of Gettysburg College over the weekend.

Maj. Gen. John Max Lentz, now of Asheville, N. C., attended the 45th reunion of the class of 1916 of which he was a member for two years. In 1947 he attended the 30th reunion of the class of 1917, with which he was associated for two years and with which he graduated.

One of 20 young men who left Gettysburg College to undergo training at Fort Niagara in 1917, to become an officer of the then rapidly expanding army which fought in World War I, General Lentz was one of two of the group who remained in the army until retirement. The other was Col. Thomas Nixon, Gettysburg R. 3.

WAS IN ARTILLERY

The three month's training given the young officers of 1917 was "indifferent," General Lentz recalled. His experience with the training in World War I gave him a deeper insight into the training he developed as training officer for the Army Ground Forces in World War II. During the period the Ground Forces training officer had the duty of turning out 1,000,000 replacements per year for the Army.

General Lentz began his career as an officer in World War I as an artilleryman with the Fourth Infantry Division in Europe. In World War II he returned to Europe as an artillery officer for the 12th Corps and fought near many of the places where he had been engaged in the battles of World War I.

He tells of visiting a friend in World War II, a reserve colonel commanding an infantry outfit. When General Lentz arrived at the colonel's command post, the colonel asked the general what he thought of his defense plan. Looking at the map spread before him, General Lentz found it was of World War I vintage and represented the plan the colonel had made as a young officer in the earlier war when his command post then was one farmhouse removed from the World War II spot where he was located.

LAUDS GEN. CLARK

During the 2½ years of World War II while Gen. Lentz was "G-3" training officers for the Army Field Forces under Gen. McNair, the "G-4" of the Army Ground Forces was Gen. Willard S. Paul, now president of Gettysburg College.

Gen. Lentz gave credit for much of the success of the Army's training program to Gen. Mark Clark, his predecessor as G-3, and to the Engineer Corps which did "a magnificent job in getting camps established. We had set a limit of 25,000 men per camp because we felt if they were larger training would become complicated. The engineers went out, found locations, secured title and built the camps and stayed ahead of us throughout the war. When we wanted a camp, it was ready. It was a monumental job for which engineers, I'm afraid, do not get enough credit."

To train the millions of troops needed, the Army started with the trained men it had, split them into cadres, then as they taught new soldiers "split and resplit and split again and again to provide the men to give the training needed."

FIRST BIG TEST

The biggest anxiety of the Army Ground Forces officers, and Gen. Lentz in particular, occurred when the first two divisions were sent into Italy in World War II. That was the first big test of the training. "When they met the fine troops Germany had against them and held their own we knew our training program had worked."

After World War II Gen. Lentz returned to the U.S. to head the Maryland Military District, then went back to Germany to become chief of staff of the Seventh Army when it was formed. Once more back to the U.S. he headed the combat arms advisory group of the continental military command before being assigned to Fort Riley, Kan., where he retired five years ago.

Since then he has resided at Asheville, N. C. His father, the late Rev. Huanda M. Lentz, left North Carolina to graduate from Gettysburg College and Seminary wishes for your future welfare and happiness and express the trust that your influence as Gettysburg graduates and liberal artists will be profound."

1961 Graduating Class At Gettysburg College

Dr. Nyquist explained his reasons for rejecting traditional themes for his address, such as doing good, making good or dwelling on the "grim times" in which the seniors are graduating. He noted that the "do good" theme got little support from primitive man. "Cannibals use their neighbors solely for their own improvement."

TIMES ALWAYS GRIM

The "make good" theme was deplored because "our society is already too concerned with material success. The motto of our society seems to be 'Double chins, up.' A cynic once remarking on the 'grim times' theme said recently that college graduates did not mind work at all, as long as they received a good salary for supervising it."

On the "grim times" theme, he said: "No matter how hard I try to be an educator, cheerfulness keeps creeping in. Anyway, who here can remember when we were not living in grim times?"

"I know your life will not lack fulfillment if I do not speak today on the arts of frontiersmanship and international brinkmanship; if I do not remark on the thrust and purpose of most aspects of Soviet life; if I do not recite the ultimate felicities in education for survival; if I do not chant a litany of woes about far out hipsterdom and the beat generation which might have got that way because the one before spared the rod."

LAUDS GETTYSBURG

"A competent institution, an inner-directed college, never questions its central engagement, the teaching and the learning process; the creative process, if you will and the ability of gifted teachers to communicate it to students. A good institution has a high level of expectations, an intellectual tone, which relentlessly demands the utmost of each student according to his capacities. A good institution, too, takes it for granted, along with its students, that learning is fundamentally a lonely, essentially a social process and that excellence does not come without pain and effort."

"It should come as no surprise to you that I have in my remarks, led up to a description of Gettysburg College. I was inspired for my address today by a quiet unpretentious, superb statement in the catalogue of Gettysburg College under its declaration of purposes and objectives: 'The test of a college, indeed of any institution, lies more in what it does than in what it says.'"

"I know a great deal about Gettysburg and the splendid leadership given to the college by your president. There is a commitment here to quality, to excellence in the very best sense, to the noble smell of learning but to things of the heart too. Excellence is a familiar habit."

NO COMPLACENCY HERE

"Here in mild paraphrase of the biblical injunction we do not have the bland leading the bland. There is no complacency here, for that is a product of failure. Rather there are the anxieties of success and with these, as the English say, your President, Mr. Paul, to Gettysburg and her staff. I say keep on doing what comes naturally."

"Doctocqueville said in 1830 that the crucial test for American democracy would be the development of the superior individual. The true test of a country, Emerson once said, it not in the census, in the size of cities, nor the corps but the kind of person the country turns out. Those of you who are honored here today soon will be graduate products of Gettysburg College. More than anything else you will determine this institution's stature and her future. If I am any judge that future is a bright one."

"Since you are before me, surely I can say that Gettysburg has fulfilled its pledge to you and has guaranteed your success. Secretary of State Dean Rusk once remarked that he recalled from early childhood the admonition of the circuit preacher: 'Pray as if it were up to God, work as if it were up to you.' I am sure that both ardent prayer and painful, prudent preparation have gone into the achievements for which you are honored here today."

DEFINES GOOD COLLEGE

Dr. Nyquist turned then to a discussion of excellence and "how we have turned from ideals to images, how we have externalized excellence."

He continued: "The true desire to excel, to be excellent, means to progress beyond oneself by continual fulfillment of one's own capacity for good. And so with an institution. A good college, in seeking to fulfill its goals, is always in the process of transforming itself into something even better than it was before. It has a divine discontent with the status quo. A poor college is always trying to have other people believe in the image it has created for itself. An incompetent institution consciously devotes its resources to acquiring tangible evidence of successful competition with other institutions."

"I think the difference between a good and a poor college is the difference between pride and conceit. It is not pride that goeth before a fall; it is vanity. 'Pride,' as Webster would have it, means a reasonable delight in one's position, achievements, possessions, etc. And no institution should be denied this pardonable delight."

"Good colleges do what comes naturally and take reasonable and never returned. One generation later his son returned to that state to retire."

The Rev. H. M. Lentz was editor of the "Lutheran World" and died in 1902 when Gen. Lentz was aged six. Gen. Lentz's mother was the former Laura M. LaMotte of Taneytown.

STOCKS ADVANCE

NEW YORK (AP) — With the Kennedy-Khrushchev conference out of the way, Wall Street picked up more confidence and the stock market advanced in quite active trading early this afternoon.

LAUDS GEN. CLARK

During the 2½ years of World War II while Gen. Lentz was "G-3" training officers for the Army Field Forces under Gen. McNair, the "G-4" of the Army Ground Forces was Gen. Willard S. Paul, now president of Gettysburg College.

Gen. Lentz gave credit for much of the success of the Army's training program to Gen. Mark Clark, his predecessor as G-3, and to the Engineer Corps which did "a magnificent job in getting camps established. We had set a limit of 25,000 men per camp because we felt if they were larger training would become complicated. The engineers went out, found locations, secured title and built the camps and stayed ahead of us throughout the war. When we wanted a camp, it was ready. It was a monumental job for which engineers, I'm afraid, do not get enough credit."

To train the millions of troops needed, the Army started with the trained men it had, split them into cadres, then as they taught new soldiers "split and resplit and split again and again to provide the men to give the training needed."

FIRST BIG TEST

The biggest anxiety of the Army Ground Forces officers, and Gen. Lentz in particular, occurred when the first two divisions were sent into Italy in World War II. That was the first big test of the training. "When they met the fine troops Germany had against them and held their own we knew our training program had worked."

After World War II Gen. Lentz returned to the U.S. to head the Maryland Military District, then went back to Germany to become chief of staff of the Seventh Army when it was formed. Once more back to the U.S. he headed the combat arms advisory group of the continental military command before being assigned to Fort Riley, Kan., where he retired five years ago.
